

Projection Lighting use Xicato Spot Modules to light the Barbecoa restaurant

Jamie Oliver and Adam Perry's Lang's Barbecoa restaurant, by St Paul's Cathedral in London, opened in November 2010.

The lighting design was carried out by Speirs and Major Associates. Their brief called for a high output, color-consistent source with faithful color rendering, along with a long life and low energy consumption.

AlphaLED Universal Adjustable luminaires from Projection Lighting, incorporating 1000lm, 2700K Xicato Spot Modules, were located to provide main-area downlighting and wallwashing to highlight feature walls and columns. Diffusion glasses and filters were incorporated into the downlights to enhance the warm, candlelit effect when linked to the lighting control system.

'We chose the AlphaLED range as it was one of the first Xicato products offered with a five year guarantee, it was cost effective and unique in the combination of color consistency, output, light quality and beam options', says lead designer Clementine Rodgers of Speirs and Major Associates.'

Xicato

Xicato is a Solid State Lighting company founded by seasoned industry professionals, with offices located in Silicon Valley, California (HQ), London and Tokyo.

Xicato develops, manufactures and globally markets LED modules that simply are functional replacements for traditional lamp technologies, offering all the life and energy-saving advantages of LEDs with no light-technical or aesthetic compromises. Xicato provides industry leading specifications via an open approach with a global circle of leading end-users, specifiers and luminaire manufacturers. Xicato is committed to address the whole broad sphere of the general illumination world, taking on segment by segment with its focus on continuous innovation.

For more information on Xicato contact:

Roger Sexton on +44 7525715497(EU) - roger.sexton@xicato.com

Noboru Kaito on +81 50 5534 3168 (Japan) - noboru.kaito@xicato.com

Ron Steen on + 1 847 380 2773 (US) - ron.steen@xicato.com

Projection Lighting

Projection Lighting is one of the UK's largest and most dynamic display lighting manufacturers. The AlphaLED Universal Open is the first LED luminaire to be Energy Saving Recommended and won the Lighting Association's Commercial Product of the Year 2010. The full range of LED luminaires is now exported worldwide.

For more information on Projection Lighting contact:

Tel: +44 161 872 6868
pll@projectionlighting.co.uk

For press images contact Jane Kingsley, JKS Communications. email j@jkscomms.co.uk

www.xicato.com

