

BAKER-LIGHT

Hänsel is a new boutique bakery situated in Barcelona between Gaudí's Pedrera and the prestigious Rambla de Catalunya. Interior designer Ignasi Bonjoch has created a contemporary yet comfortable space, using oak, stone, marble and glass to reflect the premium, authentic quality of the bread. To bring out the best of these materials - and to show the displayed product at their best - Bonjoch worked with Barcelona-based Difusiona to create the lighting scheme using the AlphaLED range from Projection Lighting.

High performance illumination and excellent colour rendition were required, but without the heat of halogen. AlphaLED Universal Adjustable featuring the Xicato LED module - offering 700 lumen, with a colour rendition of 97 CRI - provided just that. Black versions of the fittings were used throughout the project, recessed into the surfaces to retain the clean lines of the space.

"The 2700k product was ideal for enhancing the warm colour of the bread and it's visually comfortable for customers which was important," says Bonjoch. "It's also energy saving and maintenance free. I like the technology."
